Undergraduate Theme Papers, 1931

These student papers are approximately two to three pages in length. They cover a variety of topics:

"New Concepts of France," "Childhood Reminiscences," "What Every Woman Knows," "Prohibition, Sincerity and the Politician," "Strife," "Prejudices-What They Are and Why We Have Them," "Memories of Quebec," "National Difference," Man and Superman, and "Nocturnal Wanderings."

There is a lengthier theme on "Paul Bourget-A Study in Moral Analysis." And lastly there is a critique of Mr. Turgeon's work by another of Professor Van Horn's students, John Kaufman.
